It is high time to "get over it" and get on with other business. Utah Attorney General Mark Shurtleff and Massachusetts Attorney General Tom Reilly are blowing smoke up everyone's ass for their own political gains (by going public asking for help to make their cause just). This trial has become a circus event ever since the original judge made his negative views on Microsoft open to discussion. The American justice system is ludicrous when lawyers know how long they can bicker over anything they want not to mention when the courts allow those jackasses the ability to do so. We're spending the money of every states' taxpayers, not just Utah and Massachusetts taxpayers' money.

I ask that everything against Microsoft become settled (finally). Keep an eye on them and when they start to get out of line then smack them. Enough has already been done.
